page 1 to 10 in order
the written notes are resources of improvisation not meant to be played as written may work awhile on one or a few by deviating permuting or by improvising
but don't plan the improvisation no thinking no projecting hear the sounds not as a melody but as separate colors spreading in the acoustic space and fading variously play precariously like a candle flame in the wind lose control a little follow your mistakes
begin afresh each time
the duration of a note short or long without regularity stumbling into the next finger or hand position sooner or later than the expected timing that is accelerating or delaying some notes may sustain beyond the next ones

This image displays a collection of musical staves, each containing notes and sharps. The staves are arranged in a non-linear fashion, with some appearing in the upper left, others in the upper right, and others in the lower left and lower right. The notes are primarily black dots, and the sharps are indicated by a '#' symbol. The staves are organized into several groups, with some groups containing multiple staves. The overall layout is scattered, with staves of varying lengths and positions. The notes and sharps are placed on the lines of the staves, indicating specific musical pitches. The collection includes various musical fragments, some of which appear to be parts of larger compositions. The staves are arranged in a way that suggests a sequence of musical ideas or a collection of related musical elements. The notes and sharps are clearly visible on the staves, and the overall presentation is clean and professional.

The musical score on page 7 consists of several staves of music. The top staff is in treble clef and features a melodic line with a series of eighth and sixteenth notes, including many sharps. An arrow points to the first note of this line with the instruction dolcissimo. Below this, there are two staves: the left one is in treble clef and the right one is in bass clef. The middle section contains two staves, both in treble clef, with complex melodic lines. The bottom section features three staves in bass clef, continuing the musical composition with various rhythmic patterns and accidentals.

This image displays a collection of musical staves, each containing notes and sharps, arranged in a non-linear fashion. The staves are organized into several groups:

- Top Left: Two staves. The top staff contains a sequence of notes with sharps (F#, C#, G#, D#, A#) and a final note on a ledger line. The bottom staff contains a few notes with sharps.
- Top Center: Two staves, each with a few notes and sharps.
- Top Right: A single staff with a few notes and sharps.
- Middle Left: Two staves. The top staff has a few notes with sharps. The bottom staff has a few notes with sharps.
- Middle Center: A single staff with a few notes and sharps.
- Middle Right: Two staves. The top staff has a few notes with sharps. The bottom staff has a few notes with sharps.
- Bottom Left: Two staves. The top staff contains a sequence of notes with sharps. The bottom staff contains a few notes with sharps.
- Bottom Center: Two staves. The top staff contains a sequence of notes with sharps. The bottom staff contains a few notes with sharps.
- Bottom Right: Two staves. The top staff contains a sequence of notes with sharps. The bottom staff contains a few notes with sharps.
